Threatening Others: Ris Lam#42 (Ohio RIS Latin America Series)

Synopsis

Winner of 2002 Costa Rican National Monograph Award Â During the last two decades, a decline in public investment has undermined some of the national values and institutions of Costa Rica. The resulting sense of dislocation and loss is usually projected onto Nicaraguan “immigrants.â • Threatening Others: Nicaraguans and the Formation of National Identities in Costa Rica explores the representation of the Nicaraguan “otherâ • in the Costa Rican imagery. It also seeks to address more generally why the sense of national belonging constitutes a crucial identification in contemporary societies. Interdisciplinary and based on extensive fieldwork, it looks critically at the “exceptionalismâ • that Costa Ricans take for granted and view as a part of their national identity. Carlos Sandoval-GarcÃ-a argues that Nicaraguan immigrants, once perceived as a “communist threat,â • are now victims of an invigorated, racialized politics in which the Nicaraguan nationality has become an offense in itself. Threatening Others is a deeply searching book that will interest scholars and students in Latin American studies and politics, cultural studies, and ethnic studies.
