It's definitely not an easy one. The kids of Fedora Theatrix decided to take the challenge, and they're doing an amazing job with it. It's not show just anyone can do or just anyone can sit and watch without trouble. But it definitely is an history lesson that everyone needs.

This is a well-written but not unnaturally extremely depressing play. I recommend it for theatre enthusiasts and for anyone studying the holocaust. I do not recommend it to people mining for audition content or scene studies (there isn't a lot of material that would work when excerpted).

I recommend this book. Its a great book to read

Excellent story told from the point of view of Anne Frank's friends. The interactive video elements makes it a gripping production.

I personally loved this show. i am the video operator for a production of this show at the Laguna playhouse and it has been a wonderful expirience. It is a different kind of theater part of the story being told through video interviews with the two main character Ed and Eva. Eva was one of anne's friends and her mother married otto frank after the war. Ed was anne frank's first boyfriend and their story is told through a seires of viedo interview and live reenactment and their expirences . I highly recommend this play.
